

Pablo de la Vega

La Plata, Buenos Aires, Argentina
delavegapc@gmail.com

Personal site

Last updated: May 2022

RESEARCH INTERESTS	Labor markets, inequality, economic development, and environmental economics.
ACADEMIC BACKGROUND	Master in Economics	2021
	University of La Plata , Buenos Aires, Argentina
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Avg. Score: 9.8/10• Under direction of prof. Jorge Carrera and Leonardo Gasparini. Dissertation title: Teleworking as a mitigator of the economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. The case of Argentina
	Licentiate in Economics	2017
	University of La Plata , Buenos Aires, Argentina
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Avg. Score: 8.6/10, Honors
EMPLOYMENT HISTORY	Consultant	september 2021 - present
	Inter-American Development Bank (IADB) , RND/CAR
	Consultant	august 2020 - january 2021
	Inter-American Development Bank (IADB) , RND/CAR Rural Dev and Nat Dis.
	Consultant	july 2020 - august 2021
	Center for the Implementation of Public Policies for Equity and Growth (CIPPEC)
	Research Scholar	2018 - march 2021
	University of La Plata , Department of Economics
	Sectoral Analyst	2018
	Ministry of Economics of the Province of Buenos Aires
JOURNAL ARTICLES	See also my google scholar page.
	<ol style="list-style-type: none">3. Pablo de la Vega and Jorge Carrera, The Impact of Income Inequality on Public Debt, The Journal of Economic Asymmetries, 20212. Pablo de la Vega, Estimating the effects of Venezuelan immigration in Colombia using a Computed General Equilibrium Model, Económica (in Spanish), 20201. Pablo de la Vega and Jorge Carrera, The non-linear effect of inequality on investment, International Review of Applied Economics, 2020
WORKING PAPERS	<ol style="list-style-type: none">4. Pablo de la Vega, Natalia Porto and Manuela Cerimelo, Going Green: Estimating the Potential of Green Jobs in Argentina.3. Pablo de la Vega and Jorge Carrera, The Effect of External Debt on Greenhouse Gas Emissions.

2. Pablo de la Vega and Leonardo Gasparini, Teleworking as a mitigator of the economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. The case of Argentina, Under Review, 2021
1. Pablo de la Vega, Teleworking as a mitigator of the economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. The case of Argentina, CEDLAS Working Papers, 2021

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

- Assistant Professor of International Finance 2020 - present
- Teaching Assistant of “Advanced Econometrics” and “Labor Economics”. 2019
- Assistant Professor of Currency, Credit and Banks (2017-2019); Assistant Professor of Microeconomics II (2016-2018); Assistant Professor of Public finances II (2016-2018); Assistant Professor of Introduction to Economics (2015-2017).

COURSES AND SEMINARS

- An Introduction to Sustainable Finance (Oxford Sustainable Finance Group). 2022
- Carbon Pricing Mechanisms (The Carbon Trust, Genesis, and MEXICO2- Mexican Carbon Platform, with the support of the UK PACT Green Recovery Challenge Fund of the UK government). 2022
- RIDGE Virtual Summer School in Economics — IEA World Congress. 2021
- Behavioral Economics for Better Public Policies - INDES (IADB). 2022

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Awards

- “Young Researcher” Award from the Argentine Association of Political Economy (best paper presented at the 2021 Annual Meeting by young researchers)
- Third Nada es Gratis \(Spain\) Prize for Master Degree Thesis (2021).
- Manuel Belgrano and Joaquín V. González awards (best GPA), University of La Plata.

Scholarships

- M.A. Scholarship, University of La Plata (Department of Economics)

SKILLS

- Modeling and Analysis: Stata and GAMS.
- Software & Tools: MS Office, L^AT_EX.